

Health & Safety Policy

At FRIGOGLASS occupational health and safety (OH&S) is a fundamental principle that concerns all our operations worldwide. Recognizing that our human resources are our most valuable asset we are committed to providing a healthy and safe work environment by developing and implementing OH&S systems, standards and practices associated with our business activities. Responsibility for the successful implementation of our OH&S policy falls on all management levels and all employees throughout the Frigoglass organization.

Based on the FRIGOGLASS OH&S policy we are committed to:

- Providing a safe and healthy work environment for all employees, visitors and contractors
- Consistently safeguarding the health and safety of all employees by continuously improving the occupational health & safety systems, standards and practices in place
- Fully comply with ISO 45001:2018 requirements as well as relevant applicable OH&S legislation and regulations

Our goal is to reach zero occupational injuries and work related illnesses in all FRIGOGLASS workplaces around the world.

Our commitment is to provide a healthy and safe work environment based on the following actions:

- Identifying the hazards, assessing and minimizing the risks associated with all types of work activities that have the potential to cause injury or occupational illness
- Providing OH&S training and supervision, including safe work practices and emergency procedures, to improve our employees' understanding of workplace hazards
- Involving employees in occupational health and safety matters and consulting with them on ways to recognize, evaluate and eliminate or control workplace hazards
- Ensuring that all employees, visitors and contractors are fully aware of and comply with the Frigoglass OH&S policy, standards and workplace safety rules
- Budgeting financial resources for the implementation and continuous improvement of our occupational health and safety program
- Reviewing and assessing all workplace accidents and safety related incidents as part of an integrated management review program
- Subjecting our OH&S policy and practices to both internal and external audits to ensure long term effectiveness as well as consistent compliance with best practices and applicable standards

We include our OH&S performance in the annual Sustainability Report, as part of our efforts to excel in all matters that pertain to the health, safety and job satisfaction of all FRIGOGLASS employees worldwide.
